Dear Miss Kitching,

On receipt of your telegram I telephoned to Mr. Forster and arranged for him to complete the accounts in Ambleside to-morrow, in readiness for a meeting on Wednesday morning. I shall get to the Salutation Inn about 3 p.m. to-morrow and meet Mr. Forster there. I telegraphed you to this effect, and asking you to be good enough to ask the Bank to send up the Pass Books. We shall probably come up to see you soon after 3.

Yours sincerely,

W. B. Gordon

We enclose herewith amount of our charges, which Mr. Gordon will discuss with you at tomorrow's meeting.

Dear Miss Hatching

I enclosed rough draft of suggested Report of the Trustees to the Council. I suggest that you should send a copy of this (addressed as you wish may strike desirable) to Mrs.
 Robinson & ask her to write approval. If approved a copy signed by Mr. Lewis as Chairman should be sent to the Secy
 P. M. E. U. - The object of sending this copy would be to make sure the title phrase rightly interpreted has no chance of being misunderstood as you all thought that! Would you send such a copy with my draft for copy of the

Yours sincerely

If you have any difficulty with the

 you the minutes - a copy of the Trustees

Dear Miss Kitching,

MISS MASON, DECEASED

As promised in the letter I wrote you from Garnferth Station yesterday, I enclose copy of the notes, which I read to the Trustees, of the Report of the Executors to them.

I agree that it might be desirable to show the Council the ~~large~~ amount you have to pay out of the balance in the Bank. On the other hand, if you estimate the disbursements for the two terms at no more than £1200, this will look as if the "business" had made a profit of £2,100 in the two terms, "which is absurd." If you can't make the figure bigger than that, I think it might be better to leave it vague.
I am writing to the Bank Manager to send the books to Mr.
Forster.

I enclose copy of letter I have received from him this morning in regard to the payment of £192 : 12 : 11 received from the Publishers. I take it this means that the Executors must hand over to the Trustees £42 : 15 : 11 as their share of the Publishers' cheque. I am asking Mr Forster to confirm this.

I have a very nice letter from Mrs Franklin which confirms my feeling that she was in a very nervous state. She speaks of having been very tired and "had had bad family news on her way up." I am sure that, as we gradually get to closer quarters with the question, a solution will develop which will be satisfactory to all parties.

Dear Miss Kitching,

MISS VASON, DECEASED.

While I was in London last week my firm here received a pressing letter from Kegan Paul & Co. asking for instructions about the re-print of the Geographical Readers. My firm telegraphed me in London for instructions and I there-upon telegraphed you, as I understood that the Trustees wanted you to take the matter in hand and instruct the Publishers.

I return Mrs. Franklin's letter and your draft of the amended Minute, having made some pencil notes in the latter.

When I was in London last week I saw the Counsel who ^{was} ~~was~~ preparing the papers for the necessary application to Court. I think the result of the conference was, that there is good reason to believe that we shall be able to get an order from the Court which will enable the Executors to retain Fairfield unsold for some substantial period, at any rate so

Dear Miss Kitching,

I received yours of 5th and now return the draft Constitution and Regulations. I have made one or two pencil notes which I think should have attention.

The draft seems to me to be prepared by skilled hands with large knowledge of the working of Educational Institutions. I don't think that I can suggest any substantial alterations or additions excepting those in regard to which I have made pencil notes. The most important point seems to be the jurisdiction of the principal in appointing staff. Clause 4 (1) subjects her to the direction of the Council in making such appointments. This is contrary to the provisions of the Will and is not in accordance with the usual practice in endowed schools. I think that in all such schools (as far as I have any experience of them) the Principal or Headmaster or ^{head} Mistress is allowed a free hand in appointing and dismissing the staff, subject only to the right of members of the staff to appeal to the Governors in case of dismissal.

I don't see how you can resist the provisions

239 p 2 cm 86

h which, in all other matters, ~~the~~ Submission must be made to the directions of the Council. In spirit however, the draft appears to contemplate that the management and control will be free from interference. Of course, if the Council cannot intervene and give directions where they ~~thought~~ ^{think} it necessary, they might as well not exist. In practise however, it looks as if the usual method of the endowed school was intended, — namely, that the directions of the Council would only be given when asked for ^{by the Principal} h. On the whole I think you have reason to be satisfied with the draft, but if there are any questions on which I can help I shall be glad to give it further consideration.

Dear Miss Kitching,

At the Meeting at which I was present the Trustees decided to recommend the Council to pay the £600 Fairfield Mortgage out of the moneys in their hands. If the Council have confirmed this recommendation, then, there is no reason why the amount should not be paid off on the date arranged by you. If you can send me a cheque for the amount I will communicate with the Solicitors and get the necessary discharge. I suppose Mr. Lewis will be back so that you can get his signature to a cheque.

In regard to Income Tax. I have not hitherto gone into the matter at all. It is clear, however, that the property and income of the Trustees in connection with the three schools should be in whole or in part free of tax. I think the best way will be to ask Messrs. Peat to communicate with the Surveyor of Taxes, lay before him a copy of the Will and come to a definite understanding on the matter.

I hope you had a satisfactory Council

24/1/20/11/286

Meeting. I hope also that you and Miss Parish have had a pleasant and beneficial holiday.

I have arranged the valuation of the two lots of property for Estate Duty purposes. We had hitherto valued Scale How at £3500 and Fairfield £1100. The Authorities wanted these to be valued at £4800 and £1300 respectively, but Mr. Aitchison has ultimately agreed the valuation of Scale How at £4000 and Fairfield at £1200. There will be additional Estate Duty to pay and I am preparing the Accounts for this purpose.

The application to the Court has of course been delayed by the long vacation, which is not yet over. I hope, however, to be able to proceed with it very shortly.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Miss Kitching,

I have at last got the papers from Counsel, and enclose for the information of the Trustees a copy of the Summons which is being issued to obtain leave of the Court to hold Seale Hay and Fairfield unsold. In discussing the matter with Counsel he expressed a strong view that the application to the Court would be ^{the most} ~~an~~ ^{expeditions,} and in the end the least expensive, ~~proven~~ His experience of the Charity Commissioners and the Board of Education ~~is~~ similar to mine, and any application to either of them would probably mean a delay of a year or two.

2 I think it would be as well that the Trustees should see the statement which I laid before Counsel and his opinion upon it. I accordingly enclose copies. In conference with Counsel I indicated to him the difference of opinion which had already arisen among the Trustees in regard to handing over to the Union. I also told him of the various points which Mrs Franklin had raised in correspondence with me as to the mode of carrying out the Will. I told him that all parties were anxious to get some mode of settlement which would settle all such differences at rest, and asked him to consider whether there were any doubtful questions of construction of the Will which it might be desirable similarly to settle.

Dear Miss Kitching,

MISS MASON, DECEASED.

I have this morning received yours of 10th. I certainly don't think you need send the papers to Mrs Franklin while she is in America, and probably it would be sufficient if Miss Williams saw them at the next Meeting of the Trustees.

I suppose the two legacies to which you refer are those to Hilda Dixon and Mary Sloan, of £3 each. We had a little doubt as to whether these should be paid in view of the very short period of service, but at the Trustees Meeting on 5th July we came to the conclusion that we would have to pay them. Apparently this has slipped my memory, and I suppose neither the counterfoil cheque book, nor the books show that they have been paid. I certainly have no receipts for them. It would be as well to pay them now. I therefore enclose forms of receipt in case you wish to obtain the cheques from Mr Lewis, and send them yourself. Of course, if you prefer that I should send them, I can do so.

You will notice in Mr. Spens' opinion.

that he speaks of the necessity of explaining to the Court "Miss Mason's work in the past, and the manner in which and "lines on which the Trustees or the Council have instituted "principles to carry the work on". I have been looking through the pamphlets which I have got, to see whether I can prepare a statement of Miss Mason's work and methods from them. They relate mostly, however, to the principles of the P.N.E.U. and to the theory and practice of the Parents' Union School. They are rather too discursive for the purpose, and I am inclined to think that such a statement as is required would be best prepared by someone closely engaged in the work. I wonder if Miss Parish and you could prepare and let me have a concisely summarised statement of the principles and methods adopted by Miss Mason in the House of Education, the Practising School and the Parents' Union School respectively. What we want is, to shew what are the distinctive principles on which Miss Mason worked, and the distinctive methods which she adopted to carry out those principles, and so to give a birds' eye view of the special aims and methods to which Miss Mason devoted herself.

As regards the remainder of what Mr. Spens asks for,—that is to say, "manner/ and lines" on which the work is to be carried on,—I think this will be sufficiently shown by a statement that the Council has commenced operations in accordance with the directions in the Will, and has settled a scheme of which we can furnish a copy to Mr. Spens. As regards the scheme, I have not yet heard whether the draft which you showed to me has been approved by the Council. If it has I should like to have a copy of it, if you are in a position to let me have one. With the statement that I am suggesting that Miss Parrish and you should prepare, I should propose to hand to Mr. Spens the two pamphlets, "^a~~the~~ Liberal Education, Theory" and "^a~~the~~ Liberal Education, Practice", as showing in more detail the working of the Parents' Union School. Are there any similar pamphlets explanatory of the House of Education and the Practising School?

Thanks for yours of 20th. I have sent the cheque for Hilda Dixon to Messrs. Peat & Co. asking them to identify her and if they are satisfied to pay over the cheque and get the receipt.

As regards Mary Sloans, — Do you know where she went to when she left Leeds? Now, or what her home address was? If not, was she introduced by any Registry? If you can give me any information of this kind I shall probably be able to trace her.

It appears that No. 2 Account has not yet been transferred from Miss Mason's Account to the Executor's Account. The balance including interest to date, as on 19th instant was £696 : 17 : 0. Would you mention this to Mr. Lewis and suggest to him that the transfer should be made? Dear Miss Kitching, Thanks for yours of yesterday. The letter of which you enclose copy will suffice for present purposes. I return the copy herewith and am sorry you have had so much trouble.

Have you paid off the Fairfield Mortgage?

This has been paid off today
You will remember I wrote you on the subject on 5th October last. If it is not paid off, what is the date on which you arranged payment should be made? If the amount is to be paid off I should rather like to have this done before the application for leave to retain the property unsold, comes before the Court.

Before those proceedings come before the Court we have to file Affidavits which will satisfy the Attorney General (or his Deputy) and the Court that the "charity" is one which ought to be continued, and that the two properties Scale How and Fairfield are necessary for its continuance. I asked Counsel to settle an Affidavit by Miss Parish with this view and have now got a draft from him. He, however, only gives me a skeleton of what he wants said in regard to the merits. He has rather naturally shirked the reading of all the pamphlets and papers so as to extract the essential points for a legal document. It is not very easy to assimilate philosophy and law. I have now drafted ~~the~~ Clause which I think will satisfy his requirements. I enclose a copy of the draft for Miss Parish's consideration. You will see that in the last paragraph Miss Parish is asked to say that she is authorised to make the Affidavit on behalf of her co-trustees. I take it that you can get the Trustees in Ambleside to approve the draft (subject to any alterations Miss Parish or they may think it desirable to make). It will be desirable also to get Mrs Franklin's approval. If she has come back from America I can send her a duplicate of the draft with this vi-ew. If not, the consent of the Ambleside Trustees ought to be sufficient. I take it that you will not want to bother Miss Williams.

I shall be glad if you ^{can} ~~could~~ let me have the draft back with the views of Miss Parish and the other Trustees upon it at your earliest convenience.

Counsel also says "If any other of the "Plaintiffs besides Miss Parish, or anyone else whose views would "carry weight with the Court, cares to make an Affidavit
"advocating the desirability of continuing this work as it signature

"existed at Miss Mason's death and the impossibility or "difficulty of carrying it out without Scale How or Fairfield,
"it might help". Who do you think would be the best person to make such an Affidavit? Should it be Mr. Lewis, Mr.
Household or Mr. Costley-White or some other member of the Council, having a wide educational reputation?

You will notice that in Clause 14 I have tried to get in the fact that the Colleges etc. are supported by high Educational Authorities, by giving some well-known names as members of the Council. Would you fill into the blank, left for the purpose, such names as you think should be specially mentioned.

Dear Miss Kitching,

I have your letter of 28th. The papers in connection with the Application for leave to retain the two properties unsold are before the Attorney-General. He has raised certain questions which I am endeavouring to deal with, but the Christmas vacation prevents me from knowing exactly how we stand in regard to them at present. I don't anticipate any difficulty in satisfying the Attorney-General, and when he is satisfied the application should go through the Court without any difficulty. I thought that I had agreed with Mr. Foster that the Trustees would be entitled to a return of all Income Tax from the date of Miss Mason's death. I don't see any reason why the application should not be made for such return as soon as practicable. Probably, however, it would be better to defer such an application until after 5th April, that being the end of the financial year. By that time the decision of the Court on the application to hold the properties should have been given and matters should be in such state that the Surveyor will have no difficulty in passing the papers through.

Dear Miss Kitching

I have been laid up with bronchitis & asthma, or should have answered yours & sooner. Under clause 9 of the Will the Head Mistress of the Practising School should be appointed by and act under the directions of the Council. If however the Council thinks it is in the interest of the efficiency of the schools that they should do so there is nothing to prevent them from directing the Head Mistress of the Practising School to take her instructions from the Principal of the House of Education. As regards appointment & dismissal the H.M. might claim that she can only submit to the jurisdiction of the Council, but as regards policy & working she would have to take her directions from the Principal if the Council tell her to do so. I think this is a correct interpretation of the effect of the clause. I hope no real difficulty will arise.

With kindest regards

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th instant and to say that a warrant for the June 1923 dividend on the holding of 5½ War Stock 1920/47 in question was forwarded on completion of the registration of the death of the late Miss O. The holding was transferred on the 3rd July last into the names of the Executors and a warrant for the December dividend was also forwarded to the Hon. Mrs Franklin. This warrant has not been presented for payment or returned by the Post Office and if further enquiry does not lead to its recovery I shall be obliged if you will communicate with the Bank again.

If future dividends on the holding are to be paid direct to a Bank instructions to that effect should be given under the joint signatures of the Stockholders on the enclosed form.

Dear Miss Kitching ^{26th} April 1924

You will be wondering what is going on in regard to the steps we took to legalise the holding by Miss Mason's Trustees of the real property devoted to the "charitable" purpose of carrying on her work. I should have written before but have been in constant expectation of hearing from the Counsel who has the matter in hand. Unfortunately he is a very busy man - as most Counsel are whose opinion is worth having - and there has been much delay in consequence. M^{rs} M^{rs} Queen saw him however when in London 10 days ago & he promised early attention.

As regards Scale Hou. which is directly given by the will to the Trustees, there would be no difficulty & if it stood alone, we should have had the necessary order from the Court months ago. Fairfield however was bought after the will was made, & unfortunately Miss Mason did not tell me of the purchase. It therefore passes to the Executors under the general gift of residuary real estate subject to a trust for sale & primarily the Trustees are only entitled to the proceeds of sale. We therefore in the application for leave to keep Scale How as real estate, included an application for leave to hand over Fairfield also to the Trustees, unsold, as real estate. The Attorney General has raised the question that the consent of the Charity Commissioners must be obtained to this latter application.

What we are waiting for is the opinion of Mr. Spens (our Counsel) whether the Attorney General's requirement is well founded in law, and - if it is - how we are to proceed. We want to avoid the Charity Commissioners if we can, & should have done so had a codicil been made dealing with Fairfield on the same footing as Scale How. I hope we shall have Counsel's opinion next week, & I or Mr. McQueen will then write you further.

I hope matters are going on smoothly & satisfactorily as far as Council & Trustees are concerned.
With kindest regards to Miss Parish

I am yours sincerely
W. B. Gordon

Dear Madam,

Miss Mason's Estate.

We have now obtained the long delayed Opinion from Mr. Spens the Counsel who is acting in this matter, and we enclose you a copy of same, and also a copy of the Summons showing the amendments which he advises should be made. We have indicated in red ink those clauses in the Summons which are the amendments advised. It is rather annoying that the Attorney General should have raised any doubts as to the validity of the bequests; but, as he has done so, it seems to be necessary to obtain the directions of the Court thereon so that the Trustees may be fully protected.

Can you tell us who is the heir-at-law to Miss Mason, and who are her next of kin? - or rather, if you can tell us what relations she has, we can probably indicate who is her heir-at-law and who are her next of kin, as they are not necessarily the same people.

If you have no knowledge of any relations of Miss Mason it may be necessary for us to advertise; and if there are no replies the next of kin will then be represented by the Attorney General on behalf of the Crown, and he is already a party to the suit.

Yours faithfully,

Wm Hunter Duncan

Dear Miss Kitching

Mr. McQueen is sending you a copy of Counsel's opinion, on which I had a long talk with him yesterday. It seems that the Attorney-General considers that there is some doubt as to the legality of some of the "charitable" dispositions of the will. The will was drawn by a Counsel selected because of his special knowledge & experience in such questions, & it would be surprising to find that he had gone astray. The legal doubt having been once suggested however, it must be thrashed out. Unfortunately this involves bringing in Miss Mason's heir-at-law and next of kin, & I am afraid - from what I think you told me - this will not be an easy matter. If these preliminaries can be got over, I believe we shall soon get things into order & that the work will not be interfered with. If you will send Mr. McQueen the information he needs I shall keep in close touch with him.

I do all that is possible to get matters pushed forward. At a later stage it may be desirable to have a meeting of the Executors & Trustees. I shall be available at any time for such a purpose.

Yours sincerely
Wm B Gordon

Dear Miss Kitching,

Miss Mason's Estate.

This matter came before the Master in Chambers on Monday, when the position was discussed as to ascertaining Miss Mason's next-of-kin, and it was eventually decided that Mr. Gordon, as a disinterested Executor, should be named to act on behalf of the absent and unascertained persons, and the proceedings are being amended accordingly. The Counsel for the Attorney General expressed a desire that some further evidence should be filed, giving fuller details of the position under the Will, and, in particular, with regard to the following matters:-

1. The position with regard to Messrs. Kegan, Paul & Co's publications, and the prospects of obtaining revenue from this source;
2. As to whether the seventh and eighth volumes of The Saviour of the World were ever completed, and in general terms what the desires of the Trustees are with regard to the continuance of the publication of these and the earlier volumes;
3. The general situation with regard to the outstanding mortgage, and as to the financial position generally.

I have discussed the position with Mr. Gordon, and we are of opinion that it is desirable that he and I should both pay a visit to you at Scale How, and, if possible, get the accountant over from Messrs. W.B. Peat & Co. to meet us, and discuss and get the necessary information as to the whole position.

We both feel that this will assist us to put the position clearly before the Court in the light most favourable to obtaining all that we desire to obtain from it, and dispose of all doubts and hesitations which may exist in the mind of His Majesty's Attorney General.

Would it be convenient for you to see us on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week? Meantime I have written to Messrs. W.B. Peat & Co. of Barrow to ask them if Tuesday or Wednesday would be convenient to meet us at Scale How if we arrange to come.

Mr. Gordon is also writing to you from Grassington.

Yours sincerely,

R. McQueen.

Dear Miss Hitchling

M^r M^r Queen is writing to you to-day as to the further developments in the legal position, & suggesting that he & I should come over & have a conference with the Trustees at Ambleside. I think Miss Parish you & M^r Lewis could sufficiently represent the Trustees, though you may think it desirable to let M^r Franklin know something of what is going on and give her the opportunity of being present. If you like, I can write to her if you can give me her present address, but probably you would also wish to send her an intimation of the meeting. No time should be unavoidably lost. If you care to send me a telegram I'll write to-morrow. M^r M^r Queen will be asking you to fix a day for the meeting. As far as I am concerned any day next week (except Monday) would suit me.

Would you kindly say to

Miss Parish that I have received her letter about Mr Booth. I am making enquiry about him & shall speak to Miss Parish when I see her.

My wife & I appreciate what Miss Parish says (& what you have been good enough to say before) about our coming to see you & hope an opportunity will arise to enable us to accept so kind an invitation.

Yours sincerely
W. B. Gordon
